

Fall Migration and Nearshore Habitat Requirements of Ross' Gulls (Rhodostethia rosea)

Compiled by:

Gerald A. Sanger
Research Wildlife Biologist

PART A

The Ross' Gull in Arctic Alaska in Relationship to Oil and Gas Development:
An Overview of Recent Studies

by Gerald A. Sanger

PART B-

The Distribution, Abundance, and Movements of Ross' Gull in the Alaskan Chukchi and Beaufort Seas in Late Summer and Fall

by George J. Divoky

PART C

Migration of Ross' Gull (Rhodostethia rosea) at Point Barrow, Alaska, September-October 1987

by Gerald A. Sanger and J. Christopher Haney

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
Alaska Fish and Wildlife Research Center
1011 East Tudor Road
Anchorage, Alaska 99503

Draft submitted to:

Minerals Management Service
Environmental Studies Unit
949 East 36th Avenue
Anchorage, Alaska 99510

April 15, 1988